Presentation teaches how to save money and lower your energy bills

CLINTON TONWSHIP, Mich. – Macomb County residents interested in lowering heating and energy costs this winter are encouraged to attend a seminar on home energy efficiency presented by Larry Kaufman, an energy efficiency specialist with DTE Energy.

The seminar, which will take place at 7 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 17, at the Macomb County Library, will teach participants how to reduce their home-heating bills, how to cook using less energy and how to use more energy-efficient lighting. Participants also will have a chance to ask questions.

Kaufman has presented more than 50 energy-savings workshops and has appeared on television and radio to offer strategies for saving energy dollars.

There is no charge to attend the program, but reservations are required. For reservations, call 586-286-6660.

The Macomb County Library is located at 16480 Hall Road just west of Garfield in Clinton Township.
